Purple Noon Gallery

Kate's work is filled with visual references from her home life and family; and from the natural environment where a sense of place encapsulates a unique approach to processing what she sees.

Her landscape paintings portray nostalgic Australian vistas, and Kate's interiors evoke universal familiar surroundings that elicit memories of small yet important moments in hers and our lives.

Kate holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts, majoring in painting from the National Art School and resides in Sydney. Her artwork seeks to create abstract compositions that are very unique, although there is always a familiarity from the natural world that grounds the painting and creates an instant recognisable relationship for the viewer. Her very special sense of colour combines blues and greens and texture to set other bold unusual colours alight.
Subtle and at the same time strong in their lines and character, Kate's paintings dwell in the mind, calm, potent and quintessentially Australian.

All paintings are oil paint on canvas
